For over 80 years, the Robert M. Montgomery, Jr. Building in Downtown Lake Worth Beach has been a beacon for culture and history. What was once a movie theater and contemporary art museum now serves as the Cultural Council's headquarters, and we can't possibly keep it all to ourselves.

That's where you come in! Looking for an incredible space to host your next board meeting, luncheon, cocktail party or special event? The Cultural Council offers a unique space where guests can enjoy the work of Palm Beach County artists in our galleries or shop for hand-crafted gifts at the Roe Green Uniquely Palm Beach Store.

Located in the heart of Downtown Lake Worth Beach, our headquarters are conveniently accessible from I-95, U.S. 1 and A1A, and close to shops and restaurants.
